Feedback Analysis	The responses from the stakeholders are quite encouraging. One of the hallmarks of our college is a healthy student-teacher relations with a healthy environment. From the very beginning, orientation programs are organized centrally as well as department wise. The students become aware of various facilities and activities of the college. The college organizes several career-centric programs. In this regard, we seek help of certain reputed academic organizations of the district. Not only our present students but also our alumni and students of neighboring schools and college are allowed to join these programs. The Research and Publication Cell of the college has been in full operation during the pandemic as it successfully publishes the second volume of Basundhara, a Research Oriented Book on Arts, Humanities, Social Science & Management. Still there are certain spaces for improvement. The office and administrative works need to improve a bit to fit into this online system. Few books of some departments as prescribed by the CBCS syllabus are still not present in the library, it needs to be procured on urgent basis. The feedback of the students shall certainly make us motivated and bring forth more positive results in future.
